Italian Police Seeking Fascists

POLICE TOLD ANTI-RED DRIVE IS UNDER WAY

Theft Of Mussolini's Body
Said Start Of Campaign
Against Communists

MILAN, April 24—Italian state police in jeeps blocked all roads converging on Milan today after the appearance of a Fascist manifesto proclaiming that the theft of Benito Mussolini's body was the start of an anti-Communist campaign.

The manifesto reached police on a letterhead marked "PFD" for the "Fascist Democratic party." It was signed "central steering committee." Attached was a copy of the note found beside Mussolini's empty grave yesterday morning.

It said the time had come to begin the struggle against "the henchmen of red violence" regardless of the cost.

In Rome, 30 extra policemen armed with machine guns were posted in the Piazza Venezia to prevent any Fascist demonstrations inspired by the theft of Il Duce's body. The guards reported everything calm beneath the dictator's old balcony.

Press Search For Body

Around Milan police intensified their search for thieves and the stolen corpse. They patrolled the roads in jeeps purchased from the American army.

Police sought an automobile described by a witness, who saw it parked behind the cemetery at 6 a. m. yesterday, about the time that the body was believed to have been snatched from its Potter's field grave. They said this was their only clue.

The manifesto denied that a decayed part of Mussolini's leg had been left in the grave. It said the body was recovered "completely intact."

No Answer To Request

It said:

"The Fascist Democratic party, having received no reply to the Democratic and human request sent on April 9, 1946, to competent authorities—a request which if satisfied would have clarified if only slightly the Italian political horizon now steeped in a coalition of hatred and blood—is constrained to begin the struggle against those henchmen of red violence, seeking at any cost to compel the free expression of the popular majority, which only through peace can find the proper course."

Authorities disclaimed knowledge of the existence of any such formal request.

Mussolini Praised

The manifesto contained messages venerating Mussolini similar to those in the note found at the grave.

"Let us gather up that body, let us drink deeply of that light," the manifesto said. "The day will come when our land purified of red parasites, the flame spirit will again be able to break forth invincible and in fiery triumph against all materialisms and all weakness."

EXPERTS DISCOUNT LASKI'S A-BOMB STATEMENTS

ATTACKING THE POLICY of secrecy in developing atomic energy. Prof. Harold J. Laski, inset, chairman of the British Labor party executive committee, asserted the United States had manufactured new atom bombs so powerful one could "devastate the great states of Indiana and Illinois" and five could "destroy the whole of the United States south of the Mason-Dixon line." In his Brighton, England, speech, Laski said he had "learned" of the new bomb on his last visit to the United States. Atom bomb experts here discounted his statements and expressed "amazement" at report. (International)

Associate Justices In Line For Court Post

TRAIN TIMES TO BE CHANGED

WASHINGTON, April 24—Informed capitol circles believed to-day that President Truman would elevate one of the present associate justices of the supreme court to succeed the late Harlan Fiske Stone as chief justice.

The President is free, by law, to take any course he desires. He could go outside the present court and pick a new chief justice or elevate one of the present members of the bench. He could pick either a Democrat or a Republican. He could even name a chief justice without legal background if he chose.

On the basis of nothing but conjecture pending the President's return from his Chesapeake Bay cruise, however, it was generally expected that he would:

- Elevate Associate Justice Stanley F. Reed, Robert H. Jackson or, possibly, Hugo L. Black to become chief justice.

- Pick a new man—either Democrat or Republican—for the associate justiceship thus vacated.

97 POUND TUMOR REMOVED FROM HOUSE WIFE, 51

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24—A San Francisco house wife was recovering today from an operation in which an ovarian tumor weighing 97 pounds was removed successfully.

Mrs. L. M. Nolan, superintendent of the San Francisco Polyclinic hospital, said it was the largest tumor ever successfully removed from a patient.

The tumor contained nine gallons of fluid which accounted for 72 pounds of the total weight of 97 pounds, Mrs. Nolan said.

The patient, a 51-year-old house wife who until last week had done all her housework and gardening, weighed 280 pounds before the operation. Mrs. Nolan withheld the name of the patient and the physician who performed the operation.

Largest previously recorded tumor, Mrs. Nolan said, was one weighing 80 pounds which was removed from a woman at St. Thomas Hospital, London, in 1895.

AUTO RING BROKEN

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 24—An international ring running stolen cars into Mexico was believed broken up today after recovery of 89 vehicles, Chief E. Raymond Cato of the California highway patrol reported.

HOOVER IN INDIA

BOMBAY, April 24—Herbert Hoover, chairman of the American emergency famine committee, arrived in Bombay today to discuss India's food situation with Premier B. G. Kher and other officials.

TAFT CHARGES FISCAL POLICY MEANS TROUBLE

Inflation, Boom, Depression In Next Four Years Seen By Senator

Washington, April 24—Sen. Robert A. Taft, R. O., in a bitter attack on the British loan, charged today that the administration's present fiscal policy would result in "inflation, boom and depression" within the next four years.

Taft told the Senate that the proposed $3,750,000,000 credit for Britain is only part of U. S. policy which contemplates lending about $20,000,000,000 during the next three or four years.

"That policy can only result in inflation, boom and depression," Taft said.

Taft's fellow Republican leader, Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., told the Senate Monday that the credit should be approved in America's own best interests.

Taft maintained, however, that one-third of the proposed loan would finance all Britain's purchases from this country for the next three years. He declared that the balance would be used for "underwriting the entire British empire," for returning the British army from foreign shores and for absorbing Britain's trade deficit with the rest of the world.

As a counter-proposal Taft repeated his suggestion that this country make Britain an outright gift of $1,250,000,000 to be spent in the United States within three years.

"I think all of the lend-lease grants should be forgiven and I would regard this additional grant as merely an appendix to the lend-lease policy," Taft said.

He warned that the loan would create international ill-will. Britain, he said, would "groan heavily" and complain of "harsh treatment" each time the 50 annual payments of $140,000,000 on the credit were

SOVIET UNION TO SEND ACES

Byrnes In Paris For Big 4 Foreign Ministers Meeting Thursday

PARIS, April 24—Secretary of State James F. Byrnes arrived today for the big four foreign ministers conference as Russia revealed she is sending the strongest Soviet diplomatic team yet assembled to the Paris meeting.

The powerful Soviet delegation is headed by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov who will be accompanied by his top two foreign office aides, Andrei Vishinsky and V. G. Dekanozov.

It is the first time any allied diplomatic meeting that the Soviet has sent its three ranking foreign specialists to attend. The Russians will be accompanied, it was revealed, by the largest group of specialists of any of the conference delegations—some 200 in all. This is nearly three times the size of the American delegation and roughly four times as big as the British group.

Emphasize Meeting

The size and prominence of the Soviet delegation was believed to indicate the major emphasis which Russia is placing upon the foreign ministers' deliberations.

The conference will open tomorrow with the arrival of Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin but formal deliberations probably will not start until Friday.

Byrnes had no comment on his arrival.

Byrnes was accompanied by Sen. Tom Connally (D. Tex.) and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg (R. Mich.), who will serve as advisors. The party was met at Orly airfield by Ambassador Jefferson Caffery.

The party landed at 12:25 p. m. (5:25 a. m. EST) after a swift Atlantic crossing in President Tru-

NEW RUSSIAN BOYCOTT THREAT UPSETS PLANS

Soviets Refuse To Take Part In Further Discussion Of Iran Case

MAY AGREE ON SPAIN

Investigation Of Franco Seems Only Subject Of Unity Now

NEW YORK, April 24—The Soviet Union's threat of another boycott of the United Nations security council sent council members into a series of informal hotel room conferences today in an effort to restore a semblance of big three unity.

The only question on which the delegates appeared to be even close to unanimity was that the council—man's latest hope for preventing future wars—was in another tailspin.

The Russians have made it plain that unity on Iran is impossible. They just won't take part in any further discussions of the Iranian question.

Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko didn't mention the report on evacuation of Soviet troops from Iran which the council already has requested on May 6. But his new threat of a boycott raised fears that the Soviet Union might flaunt the authority of the council and ignore its request for a May 6 report.

Deadline At Issue

The Russian view is that the case has been closed since the Soviet-Iranian agreement. The Anglo-American view is that the case cannot be closed until Russia fulfills her promise to get out of Iran by May 6.

The Russians claim that the council's unwillingness to accept their promise at face value is in effect saying: "We don't trust you." The Anglo-Americans refer to the fact that Russia broke her earlier promise to be out of Iran by March 2.

Grap At Straws

Meanwhile, the delegates—especially those of the smaller countries—grasped hopefully for the first straw that held any hope of council unanimity. Ironically, that happened to be the Franco-Spain case, although the Russians, British and Americans are split wider on that probably than on Iran.

Nevertheless, the Franco case does contain immediate possibilities of a unanimous council vote. An American proposal for a formal investigation of Franco Spain is pending. There already appears to be approval in principle by all members of the plan. Agreement on details is now sought and may be found in today's hotel room conferences.

GEN. MACARTHUR URGES JAPS TO PASS GOOD LAWS

TOKYO, April 24—Gen. Douglas MacArthur called on the newly-elected Japanese diet today to develop a program of "sound, constructive legislation" as the next step in democratization.

MacArthur said the elections demonstrated "a healthy, forward advance," but warned that the job was only partly finished. Members of the new diet must "consolidate" the advance, the supreme commander said.

He approved a 26-page report submitted by Brig. Gen. Courtney Whitney, chief of the military government section, which stated that the supreme command was carrying out faithfully the policies decided at Potsdam.

Wherever possible, the report said, it has been the U. S. policy to use the established machinery of Japanese administration to effect occupation objectives and perform routine government jobs.

Community charges of fraudulent disenfranchisement were answered in the report. Whitney said some 27,000,000 persons voted, or 73 per cent of the electorate. Many voters, he explained, were barred from casting ballots because of ineligibility resulting from a change of address.

(Continued from Page One) chance when it reconvenes tomorrow at 3 p.m., to show the world for the first time since setting up shop in the United States that there is at least one procedural aspect of a political issue on which members can agree.

Small Nations Worried

But such unanimity—if attained—will be like whistling in the dark for most of the council members. Representatives of the small nations are gravely disturbed by the council's continued deadlock over Iran and especially over Russia's determination to use a boycott whenever a majority of the council overrules the Soviet delegate.

A year ago tomorrow the United Nations convened in San Francisco to draft the UN charter. After weeks of wrangling they succeeded. But most of the small nations signed the charter with great misgivings lest the big three—with their special privileges—dominate the new organization.

Today these small nations are more worried about big three than the domination of those big powers through unity.

The latest Russian blow to the United Nations came late yesterday after the security council administered its inevitable eight to three defeat to the Soviet Union on Iran.

Ever since April 6, the Soviet Union has fought desperately to have the council do to the Iranian case what British delegate Sir Alexander Cadogan described in these words: "reverse an earlier decision to receive a report on May 6 about evacuation of Russian troops, take it off its agenda, altogether dismiss it, dispose of the case, wash its hands of it."

Eight Oppose Move

Ever since that same date eight of the 11 council members have opposed the Russian move. Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko fought his last battle in the council for his demand yesterday. And when the council summarily rejected it, with only France and Poland supporting him, Gromyko, still poker-faced, announced:

"The Soviet delegation does not consider it possible to continue to take part in the discussions on the Iranian question in the security council."

Asked by a United Press reporter after the meeting if that meant he would not attend the May 6 discussions of Iran, Gromyko replied: "Yes, that is correct." He departed in his limousine before he could be asked whether the Soviet Union would report to the council on May 6 about Russian troops in Iran.

Gromyko did not walk out of yesterday's meeting, but that was because there was no further discussion of Iran. There will be no more until May 6 when Gromyko will be absent.

It was March 27 when Gromyko last threatened to boycott the council and did—for 13 days while the council continued discussion of Iran's complaint against Soviet failure to get out of Iran by March 2.

DUROCHER TELLS HIS STORY OF ASSAULT TODAY

NEW YORK, April 24—Leo (The Lip) Durocher, turbulent manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, testifies in his own behalf today before 12 jurors who can mete out a penalty more drastic than he ever received from any umpire.

Durocher and special Ebbets field patrolman Joseph Moore are charged with breaking the jaw of a Dodger heckler, John Christian, in an alleged attack which occurred after a Brooklyn-Philadelphia night game last June 9.

If convicted, both Durocher and Moore face maximum penalties of five years in Sing Sing prison and heavy fines.

The dapper Dodger manager sat in court yesterday and listened to Christian describe the alleged attack while one of his pitchers, Ed Head, turned in a no-hit, no-run game against the Boston Braves at Ebbets field. The club was under the direction of Coach Charley Dressen, who also has been ordered to appear as a witness today along with another strategist, John Corriden and utility player, Augie Galan.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Application for marriage license was filed in Pickaway county probate court Wednesday, by Donald Richard Jenkins, 22, restaurant employee, 152 East High street, and Flora Mae Spradlin, Route 3 Circleville. The Rev. Sayre, Cincinnati, was designated to perform the ceremony.

"Through his untimely death," Mr. Truman said in his order, "the people of the United States have lost the services of an eminent jurist and a distinguished public servant."

Funeral services for Stone are scheduled at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Episcopal National cathedral. Burial also will be in a Washington cemetery.

The body was scheduled to be returned to the Stone residence in northwest Washington some time today but the family decided it would not lie in state.

Associate justices and retired justices of the supreme court will serve as honorary pallbearers. Actual pallbearers probably will be guards from the supreme court building.

If Mr. Truman does attend the services in person, protocol provides that he sit alone in the front pew of the church with a vacant row between himself and members of the family and honorary pallbearers.

Reed and Jackson, the latter now serving as prosecutor of the Nazi war crimes, were considered most likely candidates if Mr. Truman decides to elevate a member of the present court to the chief justiceship.

The President is known to have high regard for both men. Talk of Black seemed based principally on the fact that he is the senior member of the court and presiding justice until a successor is named.

The field of conjecture on a possible appointment of a new associate justice seemed to be wide open.

A source close to the President believed that if Mr. Truman picks a Republican, his first will be Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, a former federal district and circuit judge in New York.

If he picks a Democrat, this source believed, first choice would be Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach who left the bench in the state of Washington to enter the cabinet shortly after Mr. Truman became President.

STOPPAGE OF SUIT MAKING IS THREATENED

WASHINGTON, April 24—Government clothing experts, hopeful of boosting production of men's suits, today faced the threat of an industry shutdown on May 1.

The retraining and re-employment administration said industry officials announced at a clothing conference that unless maximum average price regulations are drastically altered, they cannot continue to ship suits after that date.

David Dreschler, attorney for the Clothing Manufacturers Association of the United States, told Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, RRA head, that suit makers had been unable to maintain the required balance between low and high priced garments.

They have until May 1 to make adjustments for the first quarter of 1946, he said, and due to short supplies of low price wool and other material they will not be able to do so, he said.

SALE OF GERHARDT FOOD MARKET IS ANNOUNCED

Sale of Gerhardt's Food Market, operated at 124 East Main street by the firm of Gerhardt and Morrison, was announced Thursday.

The new owners, Mr. Book, Columbus, and Mr. McIntyre, Elyria, will take over the establishment at midnight Saturday and the store will re-open Monday morning under their management.

The firm of Gerhardt and Morrison has conducted the store for 10 years, having acquired the business April 26, 1936. It has been largely under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrison, while the Gerhardt brothers have operated a grocery at Mt. Sterling. They are brothers of Mrs. Morrison.

Having no definite plans for the future, Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, unable to find a suitable residence in Circleville, are moving to Ashville where they have acquired occupancy of the Elwood Morrison home for a summer vacation and sons now unemployed.

In contrast to the Navy, the Army picked a board of ex-military men to investigate its officered relationships. The Army board was headed by retired Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle.

DRIVERS INJURED WHEN AUTOMOBILES COLLIDE

Miss Dorothy McClaren, 31, of 137 Walnut street, and Armin Chilcoat, 69, Gibsonville, each suffered minor injuries when their automobiles collided at 3:45 p.m. Tuesday at Washington and Mound streets.

They were removed to Berger hospital where they were given emergency treatment and then were removed to their homes.

Miss McClaren sustained lacerations and bruises on her chest, chin and leg, and Chilcoat suffered a gash on his left cheek and bruises on head and chest. A police report said that Miss McClaren's car was damaged to the extent of $200, with $75 damage to Chilcoat's automobile.

the post office to be physically impossible to transport the mail from train No. 36, arriving at 1:50 p.m., to the post office, and distribute it among the carriers, in time for delivery that afternoon.

The postmaster added, however, that the departure of northbound train No. 35 at 5:59 p.m. daily instead of 4:55 p.m., will speed the movement of mail outgoing from Circleville. In order to move on that train at the present time, Postmaster Hays said, it is necessary for mail to be in the post office by 3:45 p.m., but under the new schedule such mail can be handled in the post office up to 4:45 p.m.

Citing that the postal workers daily handle the peak load of outgoing mail between 5 and 6 p.m., the postmaster urged co-operation of business firms and citizens in reducing the load by mailing at least part of their outgoing mail earlier in the day. He suggested that in quantity mailing, if part of such mail is dropped in the post office at noon it would considerably relieve the 5 to 6 o'clock pressure on postal clerks.

The President is known to have high regard for both men. Talk of Black seemed based principally on the fact that he is the senior member of the court and presiding justice until a successor is named.

Mr. Anderson was driving his car home. He was accompanied by his wife, Sylvia, who remained with him in the hospital and later was joined by Mr. and Mrs. Muselman.

His survivors include his father, John W. Anderson, Coalton; a sister, Mrs. Merle Spencer, Coalton; five brothers, Joseph, 325 East Franklin street, Circleville; Howard, Massillon; Harry, Dayton; Lewis, Columbus; and Shirley, Monroe Township; and an adopted granddaughter.

The body will arrive in Chillicothe at 11:30 a.m. Thursday via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and will be brought to the funeral home in Circleville, pending completion of funeral arrangements.

Mrs. Palm is survived by her husband, James V. Palm, former Circleville resident, and three brothers and two sisters. Friends may call at the funeral home.

CIVILIANS WILL CONDUCT NAVY 'CASTE' PROBE

WASHINGTON, April 24—The Navy's investigation into its so-called "caste system" will be conducted by an all-civilian committee, it was learned today.

According to present plans, the Navy will ask the special civilian advisory committee recently appointed by Secretary James Forrestal to study the "gripes" of enlisted men. If it declines, the Navy will ask other prominent civilians to do the job.

In contrast to the Navy, the Army picked a board of ex-military men to investigate its officered relationships. The Army board was headed by retired Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle.

MAN AND WOMAN FINED $10 ON MORALS CHARGE

Carl Chamberlin, 46, of 215 West Mound street, and Mrs. Kate Vandegriff, 36, of 351 Barnes avenue, were fined $10 each plus costs of $8.70 each after they had pleaded guilty of adultery, Tuesday night, in the court of Mayor Ben H. Gordon.

The two, employed in a downtown tavern, were arrested by police at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday in a dwelling at West Mound street and Western avenue on complaint of the woman's husband. Police said Mrs. Vandegriff hid under a bed when officers entered the house. She is the mother of six children, police said, and Chamberlin is the father of four children.

JAYCEES BACK SCHOOL PLANS

Bond Issue Topic At Meeting Of Group; Circus Plans Are Completed

Support of the $387,000 Circleville school bond issue at the May 7 primary election was voted unanimously by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in session Tuesday night at the Betz Restaurant.

School Superintendent Frank Fischer outlined the proposed expansion and improvement program of the Board of Education and urged passage of the bond issue. The Jaycees promised full support in acquainting the voters with the purposes of the proposed bond issue.

A committee report on the Mills Bros. Circus stressed the fact that school children's special tickets now being sold at the schools will be good for admission to the afternoon performance only next Monday. That performance will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the city schools will dismiss classes early to enable the boys and girls to attend the circus. The children's tickets may also be purchased Monday at the Fairgrounds for either afternoon or night performance. The special committee is composed of John Evans, finance; Ed Amey, tickets; and Paul Rodenbeck, publicity; with Evans as chairman.

The Jaycees will meet May 14 for election of officers. Guests present at Tuesday night's meeting included Superintendent Fischer, Ed Ebert, Jr., Bob Bremer, Jr., Charles Robinson, Phil Gordon, James G. Scott and John Heissell.

The S.A.M. is the best known of several Fascist organizations operating throughout Italy, particularly in the north. Carlo Scorsa, the last Fascist party secretary, has been mentioned as its secret leader since he vanished from a Jesuit monastery last November.

VA FORECASTS LABOR SHORTAGE BY END OF YEAR

WASHINGTON, April 24—The Veterans Administration estimated today that 4,000,000 more jobs will be available by the end of the year—enough to threaten labor shortage.

VA said the increased demand for labor was indicated by plans for new construction and for increased output of durable goods eagerly awaited by the public.

This demand, provided there are no setbacks to present economic developments, is expected to call for 4,000,000 workers more than the 53,000,000 employed in March.

A VA report said the workers can come from: 2,800,000 servicemen expected to be discharged by year-end; 1,400,000 veterans not in the labor market at present but who will be seeking employment within the year; and 2,700,000 persons now unemployed.

France, feeling that it is hopeless to reconcile the opposing viewpoints, will propose returning Tripolitania to Italy and letting the Italians run the African colony themselves.

Thus the atomic blast in all likelihood will cause a secondary and probably colorful explosion when the water molecules it breaks up go back together again. The turbulence will be something to see but little to fear, Solberg indicated. He said the atomic blast will heat up one square mile of water on the average by no more than one degree.

"The chief damage to the ships," he said, "will be from shock and blast rather than heat."

MAY 10 TO 15 DATES OFFERED FOR PLANTING

Corn Borer Infestation May Be Less If Crop Is Planted Later

Several inquiries relative to the delayed planting of field corn to avoid serious corn borer injury have been received at the county agricultural extension office, according to Larry A. Best, agent.

Mr. Best says according to information left in the office by F. K. Blair and word just received by T. H. Parks, extension entomologist of Ohio State University, the corn borer has never done much serious widespread damage to field corn in Pickaway county.

The major damage experienced in past years has been in a few fields that were planted early.

One safeguard against possible damage this year will be to delay planting until May 10 to 15. According to corn yield tests conducted, this is about the ideal planting date for maximum corn yields which make two good reasons for planting corn at the suggested date.

Corn planted in late May and early June usually suffers a decreased yield and in some cases has become rather heavily infested with second generation corn borer. As a result it has been learned that late planting is also unwise.

NEW ARTIFICIAL HAND SO REAL LEAVES PRINTS

Navy Reveals Development
Of Aid To Crippled
War Veterans

NEW YORK, April 24 — The Navy has revealed a new artificial hand. It's so real that it leaves prints on whatever it touches.

The prosthetic hand, made of plastic, was on exhibit at the National Plastics exposition. The hand is flesh-colored and so life-like that it would be difficult to distinguish it from its human counterpart at a little distance.

"We wish to make it clear that this hand is still in the developing stage," said Lt. Comdr. R. G. Delany of Kansas City, Mo., officer in charge at the naval ordnance laboratory, Silver Springs, Md. "Up until now none have been released either to Navy personnel or to the public."

A delicate mechanism fits inside the plastic form, working on the tension principle.

"When the wearer moves his shoulders, he causes the hand to open or close," Delany said. "After a while, he'll get to the point where he uses his shoulders without even thinking about it."

Another naval officer said that a handless Marine had become so proficient that he could pick up paper clips from a table with his plastic fingers.

Naval ordnance experts developed the hand in cooperation with the naval dental school at Bethesda, Md.

"We made 12 metal shells of different sizes," Delany explained. "When a patient comes in to be fitted with an artificial hand, the doctors select the shell which is closest to the size of his one good hand. Then they put a plastic solution in the shell, close it tightly and dunk it into hot oil."

Within a few minutes the outside plastic surface has been formed. Following this, the mechanism—which gives the hand its movement—is slipped inside the hand.

"We have one big problem," one officer said, "and that's how to make our artificial hand get as dirty as its mate. If we could do that, you'd never know the difference."

HOT WATER

TO KILL ANTS

Keep an Eye Out for Ants in the Lawn

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

ANTS MAY BE friendly little creatures in some respects, nevertheless they are enemies of a good lawn if they happen to infest it in colonies.

The galleries which they form in the soil disturb grass roots and the earthen mounds, or hills, which they build cover low growing plants and grasses.

Some species of ants carry away germinating seeds and still others are indirectly injurious because they protect certain plant pests such as bugs and insects.

Carbon bisulfide may be obtained at any drug store, but remember, it will kill grass if you spill it.

DELAYED BUILDING

AS everybody knows, this nation needs a lot of new building to make up for lost time, and hasn't been getting it—mostly because of financial complications. But at least the air seems to be clearing. A Chicago expert, A. D. Theobald, predicts that savings and loan associations will lend more money for home ownership and home building this year than has been done for a century. But he isn't exactly sold on government plans and methods.

"We don't need a long-range 45-year government plan or housing policy," he says. "We need soil pipe, men to cut down trees and work in sawmills, skilled building tradesmen, and some bathtubs and plumbing fixtures. We will get them only when the ingenuity, energy and ability of the building industry are again permitted to make a normal profit."

This is straight from the shoulder, and may need looking into. At any rate, the public is ready and eager, with money in its pocket, to get new homes started on a bigger scale than this nation ever saw before. And there should be reasonable profit for builders as well as reasonable speed for prospective home-owners. There has been complaint lately of congressional delay on 2,700,000 homes for veterans.

PRICELESS GIFT

AMERICA'S national library has just received a priceless gift. W. Somerset Maugham, British novelist and playwright, has given the Library of Congress the original manuscript of his novel "Of Human Bondage."

Though Maugham is known for many books, perhaps best for his play "Rain," dealing with the Malay Peninsula, none outranks "Of Human Bondage," written as early as 1915. It is a soul-searching and harrowing account of the life of mental agony that accompanies a deformed hero. Its pictures of life in the poorer parts of London are unsurpassed.

People interested in great masterpieces are drawn to their original manuscripts. There the author's corrections appear, showing his thoughts in the process of birth and growth; sometimes the handwriting has its revelations. A wealthy private library would willingly have paid $50,000 for Maugham's manuscript, yet he has chosen to give it to the American nation.

Some people are so dainty they can't bear to read "hog" in a newspaper. But they can eat fried pork chops without a qualm.

The food that is wasted in this country would save the lives of millions in Europe and Asia.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 24—The leading article a few weeks back in the "Art Digest," a trade bi-weekly, presented "George Inness re-evaluated"—which is to say, a great American landscapist of the middle nineteenth century has been revalued upward in appreciation by his profession. More than that, the article was a reaction to a show of forty-seven oils of Inness exhibited in the energetic Springfield, Massachusetts, museum, later to be shown in Brooklyn and Montclair. Two weeks afterward, the same publication re-discovered Albert Ryder, whom it hails as "America's great romantic who found that something beyond" — as he superiorly did. It points out Ryder, who composed 150 works, never had a one-man show during his lifetime.

A leading photographic weekly, a few weeks back, furnished a representative group of George W. Bellows, advertising the presentation as "an American master of realistic painting comes into his own with big memorial show." The always realistic Chicago art institute made the collection for an exhibition.

This is all American art needs, a fair showing and a hearing which has been denied it. There are other numerous incidents of similar promotional nature which show the people who can do the job are taking hold, as this column started demanding some months ago. But the trend must expand and continue for several years before our art can get its proper place in the popular mind, which has been confronted for so many generations with European and lately our own thought-enslavement to non-existent beauty — surrealism, non-objectivity and such popular metaphysical attacks upon our realistic sensess.

An exposure of this delusive metaphysical art has now been published by the New York Times artist, S. J. Woolf, in an article asking: "Is It Art or Is It Double Talk?" He likens our recent art status to that of the nation in the famous Anderson fairy tale, where two foreign fakirs came in and deluded an entire nation by getting the people to bring them gold from which they were to weave gold garments, and they succeeded in getting the emperor to dress first in non-existent clothing and all the people to go into rapture over it for fear they would be considered stupid, but finally a little child who saw the surrealist parade shouted: "why, the emperor has no clothes on." Whereupon the people shook off their hypnotized state of thought-control and saw the child was right.

Woolf blames the art dealers mostly, and does not mention the Communist psychological inspiration for our stupidity, which I think any philosopher not clothed in imaginary gold raiment himself can realize after investigation. If Woolf does not realize the political inspirations of this art, the believers in it do.

The problem and the remedy is greater than Mr. Woolf suspected. It is more than a fault of the dealers. They will sell what the public wants and unless the public is hoodwinked by metaphysical means — it will not buy such delusions.

The problem then, is to break up such metaphysical controls over the people and the way to do it is not only by direct realism, but by metaphysical means to establish the normal senses and common sense.

With Jack Gaver Along Broadway

BY JACK GAVER

NEW YORK, April 24—Many a strange thing has occurred in Madison Square Garden, but not even among the wonders of the circus there could you find anything so unusual as the radio broadcast that emanated from the sports palace Monday morning.

It had to be seen to be believed and, since I am only about half awake at the unholly hour of 9 a.m., the experience assumes something of a dreamlike quality in retrospect that makes me wonder if I actually witnessed some of the things scrawled in my notebook. It says there that the broadcast was that of Don McNeill's famous "Breakfast Club" program over the ABC network, and that is just about the only thing I am prepared to take oath on.

The notes say that I entered the arena to the babble of some 12,000 persons, who occasionally burst into applause and cheering as circus girls, clowns and elephants and other animals engaged in a walk-around. Huge signs bearing the names Swift and Philco, whoever they may be, were plastered along the sidewalks and hung from the balconies. A cutting circus wagon rumbled by carrying two characters identified as Nancy Martin and Jack Owens (vocalists) while the crowd went into a medium-sized frenzy. A short time later came a long open wagon with a throne at the back end. Seated thereon was a fellow with a crown and huge imitation ear-of-corn sceptre. A sign identified him as "Don McNeill—king of corn." The girders overhead quivered at the noise his appearance brought forth.

The cast of the show assembled on one of the circus platforms before a portion of the audience numbering about 500 which was seated in chairs placed in the performing area. These were the favored ones who had arrived early enough to get these choice seats nearest the broadcasters.

The broadcast began at 9 o'clock and for one hour there was a mad sequence of events—songs, jokes, a moment of silent prayer for success of the UN, chit-chat with members of the audience, sketches. McNeill climbed into the business end of a steam shovel with a portable mike to be hoisted about 15 feet in the air so he could talk with fans in the lower tier of seats; announcers in the balcony put some of the spectators on hand at 2:30 a.m.

Scott of Worcester, Mass.; Emmett Kelly, the famous sad-faced clown of the circus, in full makeup, made his "first time on the air" appearance and asked "when do we eat?"; a photographer and Owens were hoisted 40 feet in the air on bo'suns' chairs so Owens could sing "You Made Me Love You" to circus aerialists Sally and Pat Cartwright, who hung by their knees from two trapeze; Comedian Sam Cowling stripped to shorts and jersey to fight anyone in the house, only to faint when champion Mickey Walker stepped up from a front row seat as a challenger; the program's Aunt Fanny arrived late in the show in a donkey-drawn cart; the circus band paraded ahead of a wagon carrying six refrigerators and three pretty girls.

Walker said afterward that he stayed up all night at his Cranford, N. J. home so he'd be sure and get to the Garden on time for his one line speech. "My name is Mickey Walker." Bob Steele of New York City claimed to have been the first arrival, saying he established himself at the Garden entrance at 1:30 a.m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dean of Oradell, N. J. were on hand at 2:30 a.m.

1305 Bushels Pickaway County Wheat Aid In Drive On Famine

BOGGS URGES MORE FARMERS DELIVER WHEAT

Growers May Take Contract Now And Get Higher Price Later

Disclosing that Pickaway county farmers have delivered 1,305 bushels of wheat since April 1 under the U. S. Department of Agriculture emergency wheat purchase program, John G. Boggs, chairman of the county's AAA committee, Wednesday urged farmers to deliver more wheat now in order to help feed starving people in Europe.

He explained that most Pickaway county farmers who have delivered wheat have done so under the contract sales plan. Referring to the recently launched emergency wheat purchase program, Boggs pointed out that any Pickaway county farmer who delivers wheat to his local elevator does not have to take today's market price. He can take a contract of sale instead of cash.

"Then the farmer can study the market," Boggs said, "and present that contract of sale for payment any time between now and March 31, 1947, choosing whatever purchase date he thinks best. If he chooses a date after January 1, 1947, he can report that money as income earned in 1947."

"Meanwhile the farmer doesn't have any storage problems. He doesn't have to worry about storage space, whether weevils will get into his wheat, or whether the bin will burn down."

"There is still a good deal of wheat in this county that could be delivered," Boggs continued. "The trouble is that a lot of Pickaway county farmers are thinking in terms of hundreds of bushels. When people are starving we've got to start thinking in terms of delivering every single bushel of wheat possible."

If a farmer fails to select a date before April 1, 1947, his purchase date will be March 31, 1947.

Wheat eligible for delivery under this program is wheat eligible for loan under the 1945 loan program.

Among possible advantages of the contract of sales plan pointed out by Boggs is the point concerning federal income tax. While this wheat, under the announced program, must be delivered to the local elevator before July 1, 1946, it does not have to be reported as 1946 income. If the farmer selects a purchase date any time after January 1, 1947, he can report the payment received as income earned in 1947.

Purpose of the contract of sales program is to speed movement of wheat off farms for export to famine ridden countries abroad. Pickaway farmers now delivering wheat under this program are giving direct aid to starving people, Boggs declared.

MISS BARTLEY SEEKING CARRIER PIGEON OWNER

A carrier pigeon was being cared for Wednesday in the home of Miss Alda Bartley, 403 South Court street, who was attempting to determine whether the bird is the property of the Army.

Apparently exhausted the pigeon flew onto the porch of Miss Bartley's home about 5 p. m. Tuesday. It did not resist capture. Miss Bartley placed it in a box and provided the bird with food and water. The pigeon is bluish gray with a yellow hue around its eyes. Two silvery bands encircle the pigeon's legs. One band bears the inscription 44-S.C.-6290-U.S.A. The second is inscribed 44-S.C.-6290-U.S. with a star between the U. and S.

We once knew an old pigeon, named Pie-Eye. He lived on a farm during prohibition days. There was a still on the farm. As a result, Pie-Eye drank his three meals a day.

FOOD SHARING PROGRAM URGED

Farm Agent States County Should Produce More To Help Others

L. A. Best, Pickaway county agricultural agent, calls attention to the fact that Pickaway county farmers must produce more food this year if we are to share with the starving residents of other countries.

The county agent says: "After hearing President Truman and Ex-President Hoover discuss the very critical world food situation, no doubt many Pickaway people have asked themselves the question: 'Am I My Brother's Keeper?'"

"This is not an easy question when the brother is multiplied many times and scattered across the world. The above question can most certainly be answered more easily now, than this possible query of the future, 'Was I My Brother's Keeper?'"

"A great number of people will die of starvation within the next year; it is very true that some of these starving people have been hungry throughout the ages, it is also true that governing classes in those nations have not always fully exerted themselves to better conditions for their unfortunate.

"The citizens of Pickaway County have never faced famine and do not expect to be deprived of necessary quantities of food at any future foreseen time. There is, and will be, food and to spare in Pickaway county in 1946, but the will to share must come from the people of the county.

"Farmers and food processors of this county performed an almost miraculous task throughout the war.

"In the present crisis, this is not enough; they must have help from idle and partially idle workers this Spring and Summer to aid them in producing and processing food. In addition, every citizen must willingly save and share all foodstuff at his disposal. "It isn't a question of 'Will I reap great rewards in the form of money and gratitude by the needy'; the question is, 'Am I My Brother's Keeper?'"

"Now is the time to act, next year will be too late."
